Lady Astor In Verbal Brush With Colleague

Says Labor Members Are Learning And Will Soon Be Safe

LONDON, Man. 20.—A brush between Lady Astor and Labor back benchers enlivened an otherwise featureless dende on the air force and naval estimates in parliament conight.

The irrepressible member for The irrepressible member for The irrepressible member for Charles and the irrepressible member for The irrepressible member for The irrepressible member for Covernment on middle of the covernment learned as much in the next six weeks as in the last six weeks, she added joularly, even Singapore would be safe in their hands, she added joularly, even Singapore would be safe in their hands.

lady."

Mr. Lanesbury retorted: "The noble lady ought not be insulting to us."

Hurt By Truth

Hurt By Truth

Viscount Astro said some of the Labor back benchers seemed to think they could hurt anything they liked at the Opposition, and that the Opposition must not resply. The only troolse was that said things that were true and things that were true and the only to hit them on a weak spot and they all jumped up in resentment.

sentuent. Though the was a dock yard member, she went on, she had always supported, limitating always expected, limitating of armaments. She had voted for the five new crulers because the proposal was in line with the proposal was in line with the washington conference, and she was sorry to see her Liberal Triends making party expital out of the defences of the country. At this sailly the Opposition cheered lustily.

German School Is Given Land By Mr. S. Asano

A tract of land extending over 2000 tsubo in area has been contributed to the German School at Omorimachi, by Mr. Soichiro Asano, a veteran Japanese business man.

The German school is an institute designated for the education of the children of the German residents in this country. Owing to the expiration of the term of lease contract made about the school house, however, the school authorities not in possession of the sufficient fund to other suitable school find any house, were labouring under the difficulty to get a proper site for the school, when the above Japanese business man's offer of contribution has been made.

The land contributed lies near the cement factory in Kawasaki.

There is no leather in the event

It is a faithful reproduction of leather in all grains and colourings. Whilst it costs only one-quarter the price it wears infinitely longer than leather: is scratch, grease and water proof.

Being insect and germ proof it is ideal for tropical climates.

It is washable and therefore more hygienic than leather.

"Rexine" looks like leather but it is better in every way.

¥12 Million 'Just Loans, Bar Hostess Tells Police

A Ginza bar hostess who disappeared with ¥12 million she had "borrowed" from the manager and customers surrendered to Tokyo police last night after learning she had been the object of a citywide manhunt.

A PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF

Michiko Shikuma, 35,-professionally known as Setsuko Chiba—had been missing since Oct. 30 from the bar where she worked, Mignon, on the Ginza.

Shikuma, accompanied by her lawyer, Toyozo Asayama, appeared at the Mita Police Station shortly after 8 p.m. yesterday expressing "surprise" to read from the newspapers that she was being sought as a criminal.

Since last August Michiko allegedly borrowed \frac{\frac{1}{2}}{1,700,000} on charges of swindling.

bar proprietress, Shizue Miyata, on the pretext of paying for her father's funeral and her brother's wedding.

She borrowed an additional ¥10.606.000 from her customers, bar maids and liquor suppliers, police said.

Some customers were given credit checks as security on the loan, police said.

She told police that she borrowed the money from customers in order to set her father up in business as a tobacconist and also to pay for her younger brother's wedding fund.

The pretty hostess, who is married, denied she had any intention of deceiving creditors. She said she had just returned from Osaka and had been staying at the Kanko Hotel Omori, Tokyo.

Her husband, whose name was not revealed, earlier told police he had no knowledge of her whereabouts.

Police have detained Shikuma
